

A Lesser World

When the world was young
What a place we had
Such a crying shame
When it turns so bad

Will we ever learn
Will we even try
When the candle burns
We don't see the light
We walk on by

All that we have and give but still we lose
And no one else had it better
We say we live and learn yet still we choose
To leave the young with a lesser world

Giving what we take
Loving all that lives
Learning not to hate
Trying to forgive

We're given everything and everything we take
But tell me what do we gain leaving it all to fate
We could lose everything we have
What has it all been for if we leave a lesser world
